Survivor Team Building Game: A High-Energy, Reality Show-Inspired Team Building Challenge

Test your team's physical grit, mental agility, and group strategy in Corporate Survivor – a dynamic series of team-building challenges loosely inspired by the hit reality TV show. Designed to push collaboration, communication, and trust to the limit, this high-energy program brings out competitive spirits in a fun, structured, and unforgettable way.

Teams of 8–10 participants will face off in a range of mentally stimulating and physically active challenges that simulate the twists, turns, and alliances of a survival-style competition.

Program Agenda

The experience kicks off with a tribal warm-up, where teams create a chant and flag to showcase their identity. From there, it's game time—with activities designed to engage every team member, from strategic thinkers to bold performers.

Participants might find themselves:

- Launching objects in Giant Slingshot competitions
- Navigating obstacle courses blindfolded with only teammates' voices as guides
- Choosing survival tools in Stranded in Maine, a scenario-based decision challenge
- Tackling classic team building games like Stepping Stones, On Target, Kaizen, and Turn Over a New Leaf

In some rounds, teams may need to form alliances, while in others, they'll experience the surprise of team member shifts, mirroring real-world dynamics and adapting on the fly.

Program Outcomes and Takeaways

- Strengthens team trust and adaptability in a fast-paced environment
- Builds communication skills under pressure
