

Seeing Things: Virtual Interactive Keynote

Your group will learn how new perceptions shift perspectives to shape new outcomes in this 60-minute live webinar. Seeing Things is about endeavoring to know what we don't know. We are at a great advantage personally and professionally when we're able to acknowledge the filters through which we perceive our world - and then have the willingness and capacity to see things from new and different perspectives other than our own. You see, how we "see things" affects everything.

Are you tired of the noise and the inevitable confusion resulting from information overload? Especially in times of uncertainty and stress, the voices both inside and outside of our heads can be loud. In today's hyper-connected world, whether we are in the midst of crises, or just enduring the status quo, it's never been more critical for us to harness the ability to "see things" more clearly (literally and figuratively speaking).

To "see" = to become more aware = to better understand.

By better understanding how shifting your perceptions influences and shapes your perspectives, you become uniquely and strategically positioned to communicate effectively and make the best decisions for your circumstances.

The "best" decisions are the most effective decisions, both personally and professionally, that produce your desired outcomes. But how do we cut through the milieu and minimize the plethora of illusions and delusions, and cognitive and communication breakdowns that plague us all sometimes?

Key actionable takeaways for you and your team:

- How "Seeing things" from new and unique perspectives can drastically change how we view, interact with, and positively affect the worlds in which we live and work.
- Recognizing and understanding the important, yet often overlooked differences between perception and perspective provide enhanced outcomes personally and professionally.
- Applying the practice of "seeing things" continually gives you an advantage socially, emotionally, and professionally.

Employing the six strategies to sharpen your perception will enable you to "see things" in new ways and offer positive effects for both your personal and professional perspectives and outcomes.

Tom Leu, MS/CPC, is a Member of the National Speakers Association, a Certified Professional Coach (C.P.C.), and Certified Trainer for the Body Language Institute. Tom is also an author, professional photographer, radio host, and podcaster. Tom is a former Academic Dean and worked at McGraw-Hill Higher Education. Researching from a social- psychological perspective, Tom created a new discipline of study called Communichology™ in which he presents from the unique vantage point where communication skills and human psychology collide. Tom is a sought-after speaker and seminar leader on topics pertaining to advanced communications skills, leadership, team building, emotional and social intelligence, body language, persuasion, and influence

Program Details

Group Size:

Up to 100

Team Size:

N/A

Program Length:

Up to 1 hour

Space Requirement

N/A

Setting:

Indoor

Physicality:

Low

Program Elements

- ✓ Creativity & Resourcefulness
- ✓ Individual and Team Development
- ✓ Innovation & Problem Solving